

MARTIN HISSSED AND JEERED AT MASS-MEETING

situation, and the two came to the Academy, entering by the stage door. In a second every one on the stage seemed to know that the Senator was on hand, and there was an immediate conference between the organizers of the meeting, Eugene Billosy and their spokesman, and he informed Captain McCrackin that Senator Martin would not be allowed to have anything to say until the regular program had been finished. This raised a storm of protest among the men back of the scenes, who had left the stage to have a hand in the discussion. Henry Venable, who had just completed an impassioned denunciation of "ring" methods, declared that the Senator should be at once invited to a chair on the stage and be accorded the privilege of the floor. Mr. Billosy was adamant, and Venable threatened to go out in the body of the house and call for a vote of all those present on the question. Things became squally, and hot language was used. Senator Martin remained calm, and said he had no idea of intruding, but that he would be glad to have an opportunity to set himself right. Mayor Riddick vacated the chair, came back of the scenes and was introduced to the Senator. He agreed to present him to the audience. But Mr. Billosy emphatically declared that the Senator should not speak until the program had been finished.

The next speaker was J. E. Heath, and he solved the difficulty. When Mayor Riddick presented Mr. Heath to the audience, he announced that Senator Martin was in the house, and he would speak after the regular program, and expressed the hope that every one would stay to hear him. But Mr. Heath went this one better, and when he came to the front of the stage he threw a bomb by saying he would be glad to let Senator Martin have as much of his time as the Mayor might desire. As Mr. Martin made his way to the footlights a roar of applause swept over the entire house. It was a spontaneous and cordial welcome. But when the Senator began his address, the edge of conditions here the applause turned to laughter. It veered off to jeers and hisses, and descended to hisses, but when the Senator, in his concluding words, declared himself to be in favor of an investigation, and expressed the belief that the committee would order one, he was applauded to the echo.

But the end of Mr. Martin's participation in the meeting was not yet. Mr. Heath opened up his address by saying he had done the best ten minutes' work of his life when he yielded the floor to Senator Martin, and that the district would have been much better off if Senator Martin had been persuaded to have seen Chairman C. Fenton Day before the district committee met.

The coupling of Senator Martin's name with that of his father-in-law brought him to the front again, interrupting Mr. Heath.

He denied having had any communication directly, indirectly, by word or by letter with the district chairman regarding the Second District campaign for over six months, and the crowd laughed loudly.

A Howling Success. As a meeting to protest against machine methods, the affair to-night was a howling success all the way through. The immense audience was in sympathy with the movement, and cheered again and again the speakers who denounced the ring, called upon the men of the district to throw off its yoke and themselves control the political affairs instead of allowing their servants to do the ruling. It groined when the names of "Alvah" Cromwell, W. W. Sale and C. Fenton Day were mentioned by Henry Venable, and it stood up and yelled with approval when Rev. Mr. Steinmetz, rector of Christ Church, in impassioned words, referred to the quilloting of Police Magistrate Bruce Simmons, the best man that office has ever known, and it kept on yelling until the former magistrate, who was in one of the boxes, stood and bowed his acknowledgments. Then there were more yells.

And the crowd showed that it was wide awake to the political situation in the city. It swallowed some stiff words that were hurled into its face by speakers who blamed the voters themselves for the conditions that are. Dr. Steinmetz drove this home with fiery vehemence when he told the men in front of him that they had themselves to blame for the conditions that they had created every day in the year by their supineness and cowardice, and declared it an insult to South Richmond Bureau. The Times-Dispatch, 1103 High Street.

Rev. Benjamin Dennis, for ten years rector of Meade Memorial Episcopal Church, has tendered his resignation, and is considering a call from another parish in Virginia.

The resignation was handed in ten days ago, but was not made known until yesterday.

Mr. Dennis, it is said, has served very acceptably. During his rectorship the church has been remodeled, and a new organ has been installed. There has been no friction between congregation and rector, and it is said that his resignation is due simply to the desire of Mr. Dennis to labor in a new field.

Personnel and Briefs. Manchester Lodge, No. 14, met last night with an unusually large attendance. Eight initiates were initiated. After the meeting a banquet was served.

that any one should say the "power" that he will let them do anything to correct matters.

Why don't you speak like men and vote like men? the minister cried, and the crowd cheered him uproariously, showing that it was aroused to the necessity of doing so.

The resolution was passed finally, calling on the State committee to require an investigation of the alleged primary frauds in the Second District, and demanding that the Corporation Court of Norfolk investigate these alleged violations of the laws of the State with the view of bringing action against the guilty parties.

Peace between Senator Martin and Judge Leigh R. Watts, of Portsmouth, to all outward appearances, was consummated at a conference held early to-night, Judge Watts declaring that he had been misunderstood.

The matter was settled by a letter written to Senator Martin by Judge Watts, which, in part, says: "I hasten to inform you that I have made no statement that you have been connected with the movement, and on the other hand, I did state that I had stood with you and the organization, and I thought you should line up now with those who were seeking to have the alleged frauds in the district investigated. I made no statement that you had favored or would favor these alleged frauds, and my statement that I had stood with you should be sufficient evidence of what I thought of your past conduct in these matters."

If my statements at the recent meeting in Portsmouth have been misunderstood, I regret it, and especially if misunderstood to your detriment. My sole purpose in alluding to you in my speech was to call upon you as one of the recognized leaders of the Democratic party—to use the leadership in behalf of an honest investigation of these alleged frauds which were so disturbing the voters of the district and tending to disrupt the party."

Senator Martin accepted this statement of Judge Watts's and the incident closed.

Meeting of Protest Held. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Franklin, Va., September 12.—A mass-meeting of Democrats of Southwestern Virginia was held here to-day to protest against the action of the Democratic District Committee in refusing to investigate the charges of fraud in the recent congressional primary. About fifty representative Democrats were present, every magistrate in the county being represented.

Richard Howard, of Newsoms, was elected chairman of the meeting. The resolutions that were adopted by the Democrats in the town of Franklin on Saturday last were of record for adoption and action by the committee on resolutions, consisting of Hon. J. L. Barham, Hon. J. S. Musgrave, N. T. Ridley, L. H. Brantley, P. D. Camp, N. M. Seibell, Sr., and J. C. Parker.

The committee reported the resolutions as adopted with slight amendments, and after discussion, a number of heated speeches being made, they were adopted by a practically unanimous vote, there being only one vote recorded in the negative.

The resolutions, in substance, reaffirm the Democratic position, and demand that the methods of party nominations should be fair and honest; conducted; denounce the district committee for its refusal to investigate the charges of fraud in the recent primary, calls upon the State central committee to do so, and demands a full investigation of all the charges of fraud in the primary, and award the certificate of nomination to the one honestly entitled to same, or, if it should be proven that both sides cheated, then to call a new primary or a nominating convention, and warns the State central committee that it fails to make such investigation, or renders a decision evidently controlled by partisan bias or prejudice as did the district committee, then those at the meeting would not hold themselves bound by its action.

This latter cause was objected to by one man, who moved to strike it out, but he failed to get any one to vote with him on his motion.

The committee named above, which reported the resolutions, was instructed to present them to the State committee.

A number of telegrams and telephone messages were received from other counties who could not be present, endorsing the movement and pledging their support, among them being E. L. Marks, L. J. Bain, J. A. Kimball, T. A. Saunders, W. H. Joyner, W. P. Vack and Guy T. Horner.

Eager for the Fight. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Suffolk, Va., September 12.—A mass-meeting of Suffolk Democrats, held on a street corner to-night, endorsed the position of Colonel J. E. West, of Suffolk, and Dr. F. S. Hope, of Portsmouth, minority members of the district committee, which awarded the certificate of nomination to a set of resolutions, of which similar commendation was a part, failed of passage at Saturday's meeting.

Colonel West, who will take a conspicuous part at to-morrow's meeting in Richmond, made an impassioned speech, in which he said he would spend his life up until political corruption in Norfolk county and city is sent to the bottomless pit. Senator Holland also made an address.

HURRICANE COMING. West Indian Storm Is Heading In This Direction. Washington, D. C., September 12.—All indications point toward the Louisiana and Texas coast of the West Indian hurricane, the edge of which was severely felt and caused much damage last night, evening at San Juan, Porto Rico. Since it was first noted by the weather observers in Porto Rico, the progress of the storm has been watched closely by the weather experts in Washington, who have kept fully advised all interest along the Gulf coast as to the progress of the storm. So meagre, however, have been the reports of the disturbance, owing to the distance of the storm from the Gulf coast, that only a vague idea has been had of the proportions of the storm.

Reports from observing stations along the Gulf coast made at 8 o'clock this evening caused the Weather Bureau to order storm warnings displayed from Pensacola, Fla., to Point Isabel, Tex. Winds from the east and northeast range from twenty to twenty-four miles an hour at all points on the coast from Burwood, at the mouth of the Mississippi River, to Galveston.

The weather sharps announced that the disturbance was centered about 100 miles south of the Louisiana coast, but just where they could not say. Since passing through the Yucatan Channel on Saturday, the storm appears to have taken a more northerly course, as has been the case in previous September storms. Its path seems to be very erratic, and it may have gained an impetus from the disturbances of September 24-27, 1909, and September 16-20, 1909. It is estimated that its progress is about ten miles an hour, and at a rate of approximately 100 miles, it probably will be felt on the Texas and Louisiana coasts some time Wednesday afternoon or evening. The storm's intensity cannot be even guessed. It may have gained in strength during its course across the Gulf of Mexico, while again it may have dissipated itself considerably.

BOOKS ARE REFUSED

Bach & Co. Decline to Show Their New York, September 12.—When one came to-day the books of J. S. Bach & Co., subpoenaed for production before the joint legislative fact investigating committee in session here, they were not produced.

Leopold Bach had been allowed until noon to produce the books which cover the period from 1900 to 1905, inclusive, and his counsel visited the district attorney to-night, and the three arrived at an understanding by which it was provided that Bach & Co. should furnish the committee with a list of its customers during the desired years.

Such list to be held for the use of the committee only on condition that Bach & Co. produce without quibbling and never accounts the committee indicted.

The agreement was ready to be signed when William J. Wollman, counsel for Mr. Bach, jumped up and shouted: "I'd rather have my client go to jail than submit to such demands." Mr. Bach nodded assent.

Police Court action on the Tombs for Mr. Bach, returned morning at 10 o'clock, returned District Attorney Whitman. "And if he isn't there we'll send an officer for him," he added to Mr. Wollman.

Bach & Co. are large bankers and brokers, with offices here and in many other cities. Their refusal to produce the books was not required to produce their clients' account to a "fishing expedition," they would be glad, they said, to show any specific account asked for.

The committee resumes its sittings Wednesday.

Confederate Social Act. A combined meeting of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society, Hollywood Memorial Association and Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, was held yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the Confederate Museum.

Miss Sally Archer Anderson presided at the meeting of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society. It was decided on motion of Miss Betty Ellyson that the Museum building be draped in mourning, and the flag placed at half-mast to be closed on Wednesday, in honor of Mrs. Bryan, who had been president of the museum since its founding.

Mrs. Edgar D. Taylor, Mrs. C. O. B. Cowardin and Mrs. J. Enders Robinson were appointed a committee to select a floral emblem to be sent from the society, which will be represented at the funeral services by Miss Sally Archer Anderson, Mrs. A. M. Gwathmey, Mrs. W. N. Hamlet and Mrs. J. Enders Robinson, officers of the society.

James Werth, Mrs. C. W. P. Brock and Miss Lucy Hamlet prepared the following resolutions:

Text of Resolutions. "Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst our beloved president, Mrs. Isobel Stewart Bryan, therefore,

"We, her sons, profound sympathy in their irreparable loss, and pray that God in His mercy will comfort each and heal their broken hearts."

"Mrs. Bryan was a devoted Confederate, and conceived the idea of a depository of Confederate relics. She was successfully carried out, and the museum stands to-day as a unique monument to her wonderful power of organization and boundless enthusiasm for the Confederate cause. And it is to her faithful, tireless hand that the lamp of love and loyalty is daily replenished, and the effort made that it shall be forever kept bright and burning. Truly, Love makes memory eternal."

"Her death is not only a great loss to the society, but to her many personal friends, who have been connected with her in this work for the past twenty years and who have loved and honored her as their leader."

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Mrs. Bryan's family, to Mrs. John Stewart, of Brook Hill, and to the daily papers."

Mrs. J. Enders Robinson wrote the following resolutions approved at a meeting of Hollywood Memorial Association:

"Whereas the death of Mrs. Joseph Bryan—Isobel L. Stewart—has been announced; therefore be it "Resolved, That we, the Hollywood Memorial Association, herein record our abiding faith in the decrees of Almighty God, while howling in infinite sorrow for the loss of our beloved honorary president, endeared to us by years of faithful performance of official duties, esteemed by us for her loyalty to the Confederate cause and loved by us for her aid to the poor, her comfort to the afflicted, her sympathy to the afflicted."

"We extend to her family our deepest sympathy, praying that they may be comforted by the tender mercies of our loving Father in this great trial, and order that one copy of these resolutions be sent to Mrs. Bryan's family, one copy sent her mother, Mrs. John Stewart, of Brook Hill, and a copy each to the newspapers of the city."

A committee from Hollywood Association to be present at the funeral will include Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Werth, Mrs. Brock, Mrs. Kate Winn and Mrs. Rountree.

Daughters of the Confederacy. Mrs. Norman V. Randolph presented the resolutions for Richmond Chapter, other members of her committee being Mrs. C. E. Snyder and Mrs. B. A. Blumer. The resolutions read:

"In the death of Mrs. Joseph Bryan, a member of Richmond Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, we, the members of the chapter, extend to her family our sincere love and sympathy. No words of ours can so fully express the heartaches of her loss as these from the thirty-first chapter of Proverbs: 'She stretched out her hand to the poor; yea, she reached out her hand to the needy. She opened her mouth with wisdom and in her tongue was the law of kindness. Her children arose up to call her blessed; and her husband also and he praised her. Give her of the fruit of her hands, and let her own works praise her in the gate.'"

A committee appointed from Richmond Chapter to represent the chapter at the funeral included Mrs. Randolph, Mrs. Blenner and Miss Lucy Munford.

R. E. Lee Camp Auxiliary. The resolutions which follow were presented on behalf of R. E. Lee Camp Auxiliary by the president, Mrs. J. W. White, with Mrs. N. V. Randolph and Mrs. A. D. Dier.

In the passing from earth to heaven of Mrs. Joseph Bryan, a member of our organization, we have sustained a loss which is irreparable. While on account of her many engagements and the demands on her time, she did not and could not meet her heart and hand were ever ready to respond to the call for help for our Confederate veterans, their widows and children. To her family we extend our sympathy in their sorrow."
